

way of the bout, chief of which are a few indictments for violations of the Mann act against the smoke.

(Note.—The Sporting Editor kicked on having this—with Jack Johnson's name in—in his sporting column.)

A sheriff took Johnson's auto yesterday on a judgment. About all Jack has left is his liberty and his white wife. Liberty is sweet.

Pat Manning, 52, 936 Orleans st., seriously injured by fall from "L" structure.

Miss Alice Eversman, of Chicago Grand Opera Co., is at St. Luke's hospital threatened with appendicitis.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Kopp, with head in bandages, told judge how her husband had beat her with axe while walking in his sleep. Kopp held to grand jury on $2,000 bonds pending insanity hearing.

Ben Sabatino, 35, 1841 Milwaukee av., arrested charged with violating Mann white slave act. Held on $5,000 bonds. Alleged to have sold Mary Gordon to dive at Gary, Ind., 2 years ago. She squealed.

Wal. Tawlak, 14, 2616 W. 23rd pl., arrested dressed as cowboy. Had gun and belt with 50 bullets in it. Juvenile court.

A. B. Perrigo is suing Dr. J. B. Murphy for $200 damages to his auto when his and Murphy's collided.

Sam Breakstone, 1427 Clifton Park av., arrested for speeding. $5.

Intakes of city water works at Waukegan are clogged up. School closed for one day. Relief came when ice went out in the lake.

Albert Olson, 24, 4105 N. 52nd av., fined $100 and costs for mashing.

IT WAS FATAL

"I can't keep the visitors from coming up," sighed the office boy dejectedly to the editor. "When I say you're out they don't believe me. They insist that they must see you right away."

"Well," said the editor, "just tell them that's what they all say. I don't care if you get rude with them—give 'em anything. I must have quiet at any cost."

That afternoon there called at the office a rather important looking lady. She wanted to see the editor, but the boy assured her that was impossible.

"But I must see him!" she protested. "I'm his wife!"

"That's what they all say!" retorted the boy, as he slammed the door.

As I passed the office yesterday morning I noticed a little sign outside with the words, "Boy wanted."

A bird with hands, known as the hoatzin, is found in British Guinea. The nest is built in a tree overhanging water and the young birds, which are active from birth, can both swim and climb. In its early stages this bird has a wing-claw which disappears as the feathers develop.
